THE DAILY BULLETIN.

Pledged to neither Sect nor Party,
But Established for the Benefit of All.

THURSDAY, FEB. 9, 1893.

The BULLETIN does not solicit advertisements for favor or charity. It gives the best value in number of readers for business announcements of any paper in this country.

A King street firm has withdrawn its advertisement from the BULLETIN on the ground of politics. That firm would not surprise anyone if it formulated a political test for its customers to swallow before they are allowed to buy any merchandise.

The man who advised the natives to sell their pigs and buy guns for securing their rights is now engaged in brutal abuse of the native race with his pen. Such a man would be for sale in an active pig market, as that is the kind of animal that puts its dirty hoofs in the trough from which it has been feeding.

The Liberal comes out plainly for the adoption of the spoils system by the Provisional Government. We may expect to see the joint Council appointing a commission to see what the editor of the Liberal is fit to do in services for the bleeding country. So far he has only developed an aptitude for autobiography in its relation to the faculty of getting on the winning side in revolutions contemplated or accomplished.

The Liberal would reduce the late "glorious revolution" to the shrunken imitation of a bread riot in Vienna. It says: "The revolution was a godsend to many people out of work. The Drei Hundred had been boycotted and persecuted for two years and most of those who had not left the country were destitute. They shouldered their guns to fight for bread as much anything else. While the guard was maintained they had very congenial employment and good pay. Who will say they had not earned it? It was a great disappointment to them to have the United States step in and take the bread out of their mouths." Not bad for a paper that tacitly admits elsewhere that its genius is inspired by Government advertising.

An interview with Mr. Joseph Emerson published in that Advertiser purports to supply omissions in the BULLETIN's report of the prayer meeting into which the gentleman threw a brand of political discord the other evening. This interview proves to be only a more extended account of Mr. Emerson's talk to the native worshippers than was given in our report, in which the story was related from evidence on both sides, and not an essential point now given was omitted. The Advertiser gets the vote at the meeting reversed in the words of the interviewed, who corroborated to this paper's representative the statement made by our first native informant. Mr. Emerson makes no attempt to justify his thrusting upon a peaceful company of Hawaiian Christian worshippers a subject of politics the sorest to them that could at the time be mooted.

The article of special convenience in every household and office throughout the islands, and the most acceptable to send to friends abroad—because it deals only with facts and figures—is a copy of the Hawaiian Annual for 1893. Price, 75 cents each, or 85 cents mailed abroad.

French Medievalist Doctors.

Montmartre, which in addition to its notorious brasseries and bragantes, or low music halls, possesses also a Votive Church, has been recently witnessing a pilgrimage of doctors to its summit. One of the chapels of the Basilica of the Sacre Cœur is consecrated to the African saints Cosmo and Damian, or Damianus, who are the patrons of medical practitioners, and a mass was said therein for the benefit of modern veneration of the two pious brethren who suffered martyrdom under the Emperor Diocletian in the beginning of the fourth century.

Dr. Ferran was the leader of the medical pilgrims, among whom were numerous members of the faculty, not only from Paris, but from all the large towns in France. The pious practitioners belong to what is known as the "Confraternity of Saint Cosmo," which is one of the oldest established associations of the kind in Paris. In the fourteenth and fifteenth centuries the Paris doctors used to repair annually to the little town of Luzarche-en-Paris, in the Department of the Seine-et-Oise, where a Crusader of old had deposited the bodies of Saints Cosmo and Damian. Pilgrimages to Luzarche Church were for a long time discontinued by the disciples of Galen, but they have of late years been revived by a few doctors who were desirous of continuing old traditions.—London Telegraph.

Barracks' Guards' Pay.

EDITOR BULLETIN:—The disputed matter of pay to guards at the barracks needs further explanation to what was given by correspondence and editorial in your columns. The guards were engaged at first for thirty days at $40, subject to ten days' notice afterward. Every man who engaged in the first lot went in on that understanding. When they were discharged, after about two weeks' service, surely they were lawfully entitled, according to the law of wages in civil employment, either to a full month's pay or the same pay ($2 a day) given to the other guards for similar duty elsewhere. That is what they claim and what the military authorities refuse. The barracks guards did duty of six hours on and six hours off, along with the others got $2 for four hours' duty. I think any judge or jury would sustain the claim of the men shoved out at $1.33 a day, who if paid at the same rate as the other guards would receive $6 a day. In fact, some of the others did draw their $4 to $6 a day. BARRACKS GUARD.

Another Land-Shark.

EDITOR BULLETIN:—I have read the letters of Messrs. Juen in the Advertiser and of his friend "July" in the BULLETIN, and of Mr. Werthern, Jr., who, I believe, like himself, hails from the land of sauer-kraut, and of some fellow in your paper who call himself Mr.—I in forget his name and I have not the paper with me. But I guess that fellow is not in it; he is on the wrong side of the house, that is my opinion. I am one of de red or fer hundred that take up a gun for de government, and what we do it for? We want some land, dat's what; and if we all agree we get it. I want to be in what my comrade Juen call de progressive side of bolities. Jes to go ahead. I came here for the job. I say we can run this country on the straight plan midout any kanaka. I bin here five months since I run away from a bark and I got no sheddy job. I want now a goot one, mit a house and lot. Vat's a matter mit you. Some wants me go on plantation and work. I say, not much; not now; got mein gun; no, sir. VON SCHUETZEN.

Kindness Unrewarded.

EDITOR BULLETIN:—When I addressed a communication to your paper favoring Mr. Juen's land suggestion, it was with a desire to help that gentleman, and other members of the ex-army, to accumulate land. I had no desire to offend those worthies, nor did I expect my remarks would be misinterpreted. Perhaps the objection was to the locality. The appearance of many of those men who carried guns during the very late rebellion, led me to believe that they were members of the "Great Unwashed," and in considering this thought I believed their presence near some large volume of water absolutely necessary, hence Ocean Island. I will never do another kind act. Verbum sap. W. S. JULY.
Honolulu, Feb. 9, 1893.

The Portuguese Society.

EDITOR BULLETIN:—In your issue of the 8th inst., I noticed a communication signed by "One of Them," and referring to me in connection with the Portuguese M. B. Society, in whose affairs the majority of your readers take no interest, and therefore I refrain from discussing the affairs of that institution in the foreign press, but simply notify the fellow who had not spunk enough to sign his name to the communication that I am ready at the proper time and place to discuss with him the facts in question, if his cowardice will abandon him sufficiently to "face the music."

Honolulu, Feb. 9, 1893.

Mr. Albert Favorite, of Arkansas City, Kan., wishes to give our readers the benefit of his experience with colds. He says: "I contracted a cold early last spring that settled on my lungs, and had hardly recovered from it when I caught another that hung on all summer and left me with a hacking cough which I thought I would never get rid of. I had used Chamberlain's Cough Remedy some fourteen years ago with much success, and concluded to try it again. When I had got through with one bottle my cough had left me, and I have not suffered with a cough or cold since. I have recommended it to others, and all speak well of it." 50 cent bottles for sale by all dealers. Benson, Smith & Co., Agents for the Hawaiian Islands.

Saturday, Feb. 4, 1893.

A nestling of the great American bird of freedom has fastened its talons on Hawaii nei and the adherents of peace, order and good government wait with bated breath to see if its grip is as strong as that of the mother bird. The British Octopus lashes the water in its rage because it did not fasten a tentacle on Paradise before it was too late, and the Kamaaina who reads this will remind you that the heavens wept copiously at what they considered Hawaii's misfortune. There can be but one ending to the upheaval and everyone without regard to age, sex or previous condition must stand shoulder to shoulder in its support.

The short-sighted man will tell you of three revolutions in less than a decade, we can tell you of more: First we have the Aermotor; it turned waste land into green pastures and added inches of arable soil at every revolution of the wheel. It has brought more money to the landlord's coffers than can be secured by chasing the sugar planters will-o'-the-wisp-bounty. Then you have the Hendry Breaker: one of the most powerful field pieces in modern Agricultural revolutions. With it we had a single handed fight against a half dozen enemies to good results on a plantation. Do you know the result? Right was might and today the Hendry Breaker is peerless. Not a plow in the market dare take the field against it. Then we have another to record. The mechanism of the engines in some plantations is more intricate, and the adjustment finer than a Waterbury watch. In many instances parts of the machinery have been ruined through the use of poor oils. Ever ready to come to the assistance of the down-trodden engineer—the sufferer from any accident to the machinery of which he is the master—we took up his cause and secured for our trade the Colorado brands of Cylinder and Engine oils. There was a revolution then and there is today. But we were successful at the start and will be at the finish. As in every other revolution in which we have been connected Right is Might. The Colorado brands of oil are used exclusively on a majority of the plantations and its adoption by the managers has brought peaceful times to the engineer whose sleep, for ages, has been disturbed by visions of hot journals and foaming cylinders. With our oils satisfaction is assured in either high or low pressure engines and foaming in the cylinders becomes ancient history.

The revolutions we have mentioned have benefited the plantation managers in particular and the stock holders in their respective companies in general. Our hands have been dipped in other mercantile revolutions which resulted profitably to every one on the island: but none more successfully than the battle with high prices. We knocked the crown from its leader just as effectually as if we had had forty galling guns at our command. We've shown the people on these Islands that a dollar is worth a hundred cents and that we give twenty-five percent more for the dollar than anyone else. You've been benefited, so have we. We met the hard times when they struck the country and our philanthropic efforts have been appreciated. What about those traps that catch eleven rats at one setting. Can you find anything better than that?
